Migrations is when Immigrants are seeking for job/opportunities for better health care and for these people to do that they need to move away from their homes, escape poverty and try to make things easier and more helpful for themselves.

For most migrants to go and live a new life in a different country they need to get there visa approved, not everyone gets there visa approved and it makes things worse and difficult for people especially for the ones who are poor, for the ones who are unsafe and etc.

Immigrants who try to cross the borders without permission or without their visa being granted can get caught and their children can be taken away into custody and can be separated from their families by government organizations.

TERRORISM

Terrorism is when a group of terrorists from different countries do criminal acts to make threats about certain things and to get responses based on the threats.

Terrorists dont just make threats just to do them they fight to create a new country, carry out a revolution, achieve racists goals, free animals from laboratory testing, end abortion and etc.

An example of terrorists are the KKK and they would attack different people such as black americans, Jews, members in the LGBTQ community, Catholics, and etc.

Migration is a very good and bad thing it can help some people and it can make things worse for others.

Migration is when people try to move to a different country to have a better living condition, to get a job or to escape from conflicts. Immigrants are in desperate need to move away to a different country and not all of them can get a job because they need permission by getting there vis's approved to live and work somewhere else most times they cross the border without there visas being approved and that causes a lot of problems for themselves and their families. But based on the United Nations article, "the UN members want to help migrants and their children and try to help the immigrants who cannot cross the borders because of their visas not being approved, they are making progress to increase the benefits for them and to reduce the risks they are having"(<https://www.un.org/en/sections/issues-depth/migration/index.html>). Migration is something most immigrants wish to live a better life to not live how they are living now to run away from all the difficult and very unsafe places and things and to succeed and do better.

Terrorism is something that people would not want to experience it's something very scary where violence is involved because people want to have a voice about certain things and they want a response, Terrorists harm others because they feel like that is what they need to do. They become very violent and they go to very crowded places such as schools, shopping centers, bus, train stations, restaurants, night clubs and etc. Even tho there is an act of violence the terrorists are fighting for rights.
